

Cross Functional Kris Olson	The Answer is...Supplemental Data! Part 1: New Uses for Older Functionality Even though Supplemental Data has been around since the green screen days, it's cool again thanks to the use of new functionality now available in E1.	5
Distribution/ Procurement Bernie Fischette	Lean Procurement - Yes, It's Real! Part 3: Automating Non-Value Activities and Reducing Purchase Orders Learn ways to reduce POs and how to automate non-value activities by utilizing outside processing and supplier templates.	30
Financials Thom Blake	Revenue Recognition Scheduling for Sales Orders One Company's Workaround One company's workaround to include COGS while utilizing Schedules in Sales Order Management—functionality not currently available in E1.	41
Technical Russ Bartunek	Master Business Functions - The "Programs Behind the Curtain" Part 2: Transaction Data MBFs Understand the power of Master Business Functions and it's many configuration options.	54
Technical/ Orchestrator Tim McMurdo	Orchestrator for CNCs Part 2: Power Tuning the AIS Server for Orchestrator Studio Tim's tips on how to 'power tune' the AIS server for Orchestrator Studio to optimize the configuration and keep it running smoothly.	71

Features

Penny Allen	Penny's Corner—Some Advice from Herman Munster	3
	JDEtips University—JDE EnterpriseOne 9.2 Virtual Classes	4
	Join the Team—Be a Knowledge Express Contributor	89

Terri Wylie, Managing Editor

Terri.Wylie@JDEtips.com